

ABSTRACT

Disclosed herein are yeasts, which, when cultured, can produce relatively high concentrations of lactic acid. Also disclosed herein are culture media that result in relatively lower levels of by-product impurities when lactic acid-producing yeast are cultured in them.

5